IN CONGRESS.

Senator Voorhees Increases the Fort Wayne Public Building Appropriation to $175,000.

The House Members Consider Appropriations and Talk Over the White-Blackburn Matter.

A Quorum Fails to Show up in the Illinois Legislature--Unseating Republicans.

Congressional Notes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Mr. Allison presided over the senate to-day.

The chair laid before the senate a memorial in the form of a joint resolution from the legislature of Dakota, urging a division of that territory and the admission of its southern portion as a state.

The senate passed Sherman's joint resolution providing for medals to commemorate the dedication of the Washington monument.

Lapham, from committee on foreign affairs, reported a joint resolution referring to the president the matter of Venezuelan awards under the convention of 1866.

Mr. Voorhees called up his bill to increase the appropriation for the public building at Fort Wayne from $100,000 to $175,000, and making $50,000 of the amount immediately available. Passed.

Consideration of the bill to prevent the unlawful occupancy of public lands was resumed and passed.

Cockrell asked the senate to take up the house bills on the senate calendar but objection was made.

The bill to quiet the title of settlers on Des Moines river and was then taken up, but at 1 o'clock it was displaced by the anti-silver coinage bill.

Mr. Beck supported those provisions of the bill calling for a redemption of trade dollars, but strongly opposed the suspension of the coinage of the standard dollar.

Messrs. Morrill and Morgan also spoke.

Mr. Morgan presented the credentials of the re-election of Senator Pugh.

A long discussion as to the interpretation of the senate rule forbidding proposing general legislation on appropriation bills.

The discussion arose on the point of order raised by Mr. Ingalls on the amendment proposed by the senate appropriation committee to this bill. The point of order was that under the rules of the senate the proposed amendment was not in order. The amendment proposed was to modify the provision of the house bill that established in favor of pension applicants in the presumption of soundness at the time of enlistment. The modification would establish the presumption in favor of those only who had served at least three months.

The presiding officer (Mr. Platt) held that Mr. Ingalls' point of order was well taken, and therefore that the senate committee's proposed amendment was not admissable.

Mr. Ingalls, for the purpose of obtaining the opinion of the senate as to the spirit of the rule, appealed from the decision of the chair. The action proposed by the senate, he said, was not proposing legislation already proposed by the house. Mr. Ingalls admitted that the present presiding officer had correctly ruled according to the precedents of the senate, but he believed the preceding rules had been wrong, and he wanted the senate now to declare a precedent that would enable the senators to offer amendments to such general legislation as the house might put on the appropriation bill.

Mr. Edmunds taking the chair, said, the ruling of Mr. Slatt, while in the chair, correctly followed the precedents of the senate, and the effort of a successful appeal, would be that it would be in order at any time to propose any amendment germain to the subject of the bills under consideration.

Mr. Sherman thought it would be well to pass a resolution, expressing for the present session, at least, the sense of the senate to be that a true construction of the rule was that the amendments may be made to general legislative measures found by the senate on the appropriation bills.

Mr. Edmunds spoke strongly against opening the door to any proposition which would permit such amendments.

Mr. Hoar said, if the decision of the chair was not sustained, the senate might as well propose an amendment to the constitution, declaring the house to be the only law-making body. Mr. Hoar did not wish an extra session, but better, an extra than practice attaching a heavy a heavy, addition to the appropriation bills.

Mr. Hoar in alluding to the failure of the house to consider the bankruptcy bill, said he did not believe the American people would long tolerate that one of their legislative should be fettered by rules that made it possible for a dozen or twenty men, by methods not in accordance with the spirit of the constitution, to prevent the consideration of a measure so urgently demanded by the country.

Mr. Bayard strongly urged the senate to keep its stand. The principle incorporated in it, is one which, he said, was a correct principle, without the observance of which all the powers of this government would be resolved into a single legislative chamber.

After further debate the decision of the chair was sustained, yeas, 35; nays, 23. After an executive session the senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The house met in continuation of the Saturday session and immediately went into a committee of the whole, Springer in the chair, on the postoffice appropriation bill.

Bingham criticised the action of the committee in cutting down below estimates the appropriation for the letter carier service.

Dingley advocated a more liberal policy in compensation to American steamships for carrying mails. Pending completion of his remarks, the committee rose and the house adjourned and the session of Tuesday began.

When the journal was read a discussion followed on the account of the controversy between White, of Kentucky, and the speaker pro tem, Blackburn, yesterday. Messrs. Kelly, Cox, Washburn, Lowry, O'Neil, Reagan, participated in the talk and finally the journal was approved, the republicans refraining from a vote.

The speaker pro tem announced the appointment of Clay and Keifer as tellers on the part of the house during the counting of the electoral vote.

DON CAMERON

Senator Don Cameron starts to-morrow for Florida. His health has been failing of late and the physicians advised him not to remain here any longer, although he wanted to stay the season out. Cameron has had two hemorrhages recently and is advised to seek a milder climate far south and take much out-door exercise, if possible.

The Illinois Legislature

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—The Journal's Springfield special says that as there was not a quorum of either party in either house, both houses, by common consent, took a recess until 10 o'clock to-morrow to give absentees time to arrive. As only a recess can be taken, the legislative day continues and a ballot taken for senator will be in compliance with the law.

The committee on unseating republicans is in session this afternoon. Notices have been served on the contestants in the First and Sixth districts. County Clerk Ryan is expected with ballots this afternoon. The democrats hold a caucus this evening. The republicans are anxious to have the absent senators here to-morrow.

Fined for Contempt of Court.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Judge Freedman, in the superior court to-day, rendered a decision in the proceedings brought by Theodore Roosevelt and others against ex-Mayor Franklin Edson, implicated with others, on motion to punish the ex-mayor for contempt of court in reserving an injunction order granted by Judge Beach last December which restrained the ex-mayor from making any nomination for the commissioner of public works, and the corporation counsel, Judge Freedman, found ex-Mayor Edson guilty of contempt and directs that he be confined in the county jail fifteen days and in addition to pay a fine of $250.

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 10.—Snow on the mountain melted fast yesterday, and last night the Lenne dam in Chester creek broke and let a ferocious stream down on the surrounding territory and adjacent manufactories. The damage is great; no lives lost.

A Philadelphia dispatch says ice is moving down the Schuylkill and Delaware rivers without damage. A dispatch from Trenton, N. J., says likewise of the Delaware. Ice and water in the Raritan canal in New Jersey is doing great damage.

Bismarck's Present.

MUNICH, Feb. 10.—King Louis, of Bavaria, has issued a decree permitting and encouraging the collection in Bavaria of subscriptions for the proposed birthday gift to Prince Bismarck.

Robbed a Church.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—The police report that St. Jarlahs Roman Catholic church was entered by burglars last night, who carried off the sacred vessels made of silver heavily plated with gold, and also some of the rich vestments, and even carried off the poor-box. In addition to the theft considerable damage was done in and about the altar.

A Godsend.

PITTSBURG, February 9.—The Edgar Thompson steel works, at Braddocks, will resume operation in all departments to-morrow, giving employment to nearly 4,000 men who have been idle eight weeks. The men return to work at a slight reduction.

Socialists and Anarchists.

PITTSBURG, February 9.—The publication of the designs and object of the anarchists has occasioned considerable talk among the members of the International Workingmen's association, and they have called a peopple's meeting to be had in Jefferson hall, Allegheny City, to-night. The purpose, according to the printed circular, is to give the opponents of socialism and anarchism an opportunity of controverting their position.

WILSON'S RESCUE

The Rebels Shatter the British Steamer ---Wilson Outgenerals them on the River Bank.

Italian Troops to Occupy Towns and Otherwise Aid the British in their Warfare.

Colonel Wilson's Rescue.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—A dispatch from Korti, dated February 9, says: "Lord Beerford returned in safety to Gubat, bringing with him Colonel Wilson and his party who were stranded on an island some distance up the Nile while returning from Khartoum. Some difficulty was experienced in fetching away the party, as the rebels on the river bank kept up a constant firing. Shortly after our party embarked a bullet from a rebel's rifle pierced the boiler of the steamer and it was necessary to anchor under the fire fire and make repairs. The British fire, however, now took effect and the rebels were repulsed. Immediately after reaching Gubat Colonel Wilson started for Korti where he just now arrived, to report in person to Lord Wolseley the details of his reconnaissance at Khartoum."

WOLSELEY'S DISPATCH.

Lord Wolseley telegraphs further particulars of Beersford's rescue of Colonel Wilson: "When the steamer had gone down the river about three miles the battery of the enemy, on the left bank of the river, opened fire upon it. The steamer returned the fire which was kept up while the steamer anchored for repairs. Meanwhile Colonel Wilson with a small party took four guns and landed on the right bank. The party marched down the river until directly opposite the battery of the rebels. They put the guns in position and opened fire. Much assistance was thus rendered Lord Charles in keeping the fire of the enemy down. At sunset Colonel Wilson and party marched on three miles further down the river and halted for the night. They were there joined by Lord Charles the following morning. The steamer meanwhile had another engagement with the rebel battery, but succeeded in passing it without serious harm. Colonel Wilson and party were again taken on board and the steamer proceeded to Gubal without further difficulty. During passage from the island to Gubal one man was killed and seven injured. Of the injured four were natives scalded in the engine room." Lord Wolseley concluded his dispatch with these words: "Cannot speak to highly of the pluck of Lord Charles Beersford and party. Colonel Wilson's men likewise behaved admirably and with the usual determination of Englishmen."

ITALIANS IN THE EGYPT FIGHT.

ROME, Feb. 10.—The Italian expedition recently landed at Massowah has been ordered to aid the English in their operations in Soudan by marching into the interior and assisting the garrisons at Kassala and Senhi. This movement, if successfully accomplished, will open a line of communication from the coast to Khartoum parallel with the route from Suakin to Berber.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The Telegraph's Vienna correspondent says it is understood that Italy has consented to occupy Cairo, Alexandria, Suez and a portion of Ismailia, so as to allow the British troops in Egypt to advance forthwith to the frontier.

LONDON, Feb, 10.—General Newgate will command an expedition to Suakim. Colonel Greaves will be chief of staff. The Suakim campaign will open, it is calculated, on the 8th of March. Orders have been sent throughout the country bordering on the west and south coast of the Red sea for the purchase of camels for use in the expedition at Suakim. Preparation is being made for landing the expedition.

Lee Linn on Trial For Shooting Bill McGuire.

WABASH, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—There is still great excitement here over the shooting of William McGuire, alias Bill Hickey, by Lee Linn, editor of the Wabash Courier. Hickey, who died Saturday night, was examined by physicians who found that the first bullet penetrated the lower lobe of his right lung. The second ball entered a few inches lower. Both bullets passed entirely through the body and either would have proved fatal. The third cut through the victim's trowsers, grazing the skin. As McGuire lay on the surgeon's table he was a picture of manly development, and it is not wondered that he retained the distinction of being the "hardest hitter on the Wabash." He was a giant in stature and a Hercules in physical strength, and in his sober intervals was a comely specimen of God's noblest creation. Liquor was the bane of his existence. While sober he was orderly and well-behaved, and when plying his vocation, that of a ditcher, he was companionable and generous, but under the influence of whiskey, he was a demon, a terror to law abiding citizens and the toughest customer the police had to deal with.

At Chicago he committed a crime and changed his name to "Hickey." He later robbed one Bill Green of $100 at the Murdock house, Logansport, and then went to Lagro, where he lived until his death at the hands of the editor. McGuire was buried at Lagro yesterday.

Judge Walker, of Peru, came here last night to give Linn a hearing, but found he had no jurisdiction. Linn's examination is now in progress before the mayor. He is charged with murder.

Indiana Legislature.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., February 9.—In the senate the bill prohibiting the manufacture and use of dynamite was engrossed.

There was a long discussion on the bill preventing the employment of children under twelve in mines and factories, but no final action was taken.

The bill regulating the transportation of insane persons to the state hospital was laid on the table.

The house spent the afternoon on the bill, on its second reading, ordering the engrossment of the concurrent resolution for a constitutional amendment, fixing the terms of officers four years.

Both houses met in joint convention and elected O. Cullis, of Morgan, state librarian; John Hara, of Floyd, prison director, south; George Majors, of Benton, prison director, north; R. H. Burrell, of Jackson, trustee of the insane asylum; John P. Green, of Clinton, trustee of the deaf and dumb institution; Calvin Stogdill, of Decatur, trustee of the blind asylum.

Shot Down in Their Own House.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 9.—Douglas Ennis spent Sunday here, saying he was in search of a man named Chancy McCollum, whom he would kill on sight for keeping company with a girl he (Ennis) had followed to this city from Memphis. He went to a neighboring town, Danvers, this morning and bought a revolver and began drinking in the village saloons with John Parr, a farmer, and both got drunk and went to Parr's house. This evening Ennis undertook to load his revolver. Parr objected and Ennis shot him twice. Parr's son came to his father's rescue and Ennis also shot him. Both men will probably die. Ennis escaped.

Arrested by Her Husband.

CLEVELAND, February 9.—A sensation was created in Warren to-day by the arrest of Mrs. Tellie King, wife of A. A. King, of this city. King sued for a divorce some time ago and the arrest to-day was made on the charge of adultery. King says his wife remained over night in this city at a cheap hotel with a man named Jewell, who was also arrested. Mrs. King declares it to be a put up job in which private detectives and others want to ruin her reputation. She is the daughter of a prominent merchant.

His Last Contract.

CINCINNATI, February 9.—Mr. R. M. Shoemaker, one of the most wealthy and prominent citizens of Clifton, is not expected to live through the night. He was identified with the construction of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, the Kansas & Pacific, Cincinnati Southern, Dayton & Michigan and other railways.

Hard Fight with Hard Gloves.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., February 9.—A hard glove fight between Ward and McCarter for $500, the fight to be a finish, was won at an early hour this morning by McCarter, after two hours of hard slugging. Twenty-seven rounds were fought and large amounts of money changed hands. Both men were badly punished.

They Don't Like Jeff.

TOPEKA, Ks., February 9.—The senate passed the house joint resolution condemning the action of the state commissioner at the world's fair at New Orleans, in joining with others in inviting Jefferson Davis to participate in the reception of the liberty bell.

The Craze in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 9.—Five of the largest iron works of this city have announced a reduction of wages of fifteen per cent., to go into effect to-day. The workmen refused to accept. Fifteen hundred are thrown out of employment.

World's Cotton Convention.

LOUISVILLE, Kentucky, February 9.—Hon. Henry Watterson, W. R. Belknap, Richard Trabue, H. P. Forceward, Geo. W. Wicks, H. C. Stucky, representing the Louisville board of trade and cotton manufacturing interests of this city, left this morning for New Orleans, to be present at the World's Cotton Convention.

Telegraphic News from South Carolina Detailing Murder, Robbery, and an Explosion.

Five Men Killed by an Explosion.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 10.—A special from Brazil, Ind., says an explosion occurred at six o'clock this morning in the Central Iron and Steel works. Mayor Collins, owner, and four men were killed. Eight men were dangerously wounded and a large number slightly injured.

The dead are as follows:
Mahlon Baker, watchman.
Bob Davis, roller.
Brock, puddler.
James Billeter, all of Brazil.
Lewis Muller, Newark, N. J., is dying.
The dangerously injured are:
Thomas Kennedy, Trenton, N. J.
James Rogers, Janesville, Wis.
The damage to property is $15,000.

The Cold Wave West and North.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—The mercury fell rapidly after midnight and reports from all western points indicate clear and cold weather. In this city at 8 o'clock the signal service reports temperature at 14 degrees below zero; at Omaha, 17 below; at Kansas City, 14 below; at St. Paul, 23 below; at Dubuque, 26 below; Keokuk, 15 below; at Fargo, 30 below, and at Winnepeg, 32 below.

The worst effect of the storm appears to be southeast of Chicago. The trains between here and Louisville and Cincinnati are completely blocked. This morning the passenger trains east were abandoned except on one line. The roads all expect to send out afternoon trains. All incoming trains from the west are six to eighteen hours late. The trains leaving for the west are on time. Freight business on all roads is practically suspended.

At Burlington, Iowa, a blizzard prevailed last night and the thermometer was twenty-three degrees below zero this morning.

At Kansas City the thermometer stands 18 degrees below. No trains over the Island, Wabash and Hannibal roads.

At Marshaltown the mercury was 28 degrees below at 5 o'clock this morning and eighteen below at noon.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—All late trains on the Chicago and Alton which left Chicago at 9 and 11 o'clock last night are seven hours late. No trains on the Illinois Central or Ohio and Mississippi, and the Wabash trains are imbeded in the snow. This is the severest storm ever known here for years. The snow has ceased but the thermometer is twenty degrees below zero.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 10.—This place is practically isolated from the outside. The Michigan Central trains stopped at Battle Creek and Michigan City, the Lake Shore trains at Elkhart, the Grand Rapids and Indiana trains at Sturgis and the Ohio and Michigan at Marshall and Monteith. The drifts and blockades are the worst of the season.

Items From South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 10.—A special from Pickens county says: Dick Mulligan, white, while drunk hurled a chair at his wife and killed his little daughter who happened to come in at the time. Mulligan, sobered by the tragedy, went to a bed room and cut his throat.

The store of C. A. Austin, confectioner, at Johnston, this state, was burglarized. The top of a safe was blown to the ceiling, where it was found imbedded. The front of the building was sprung out of place six inches by the explosion.

Two colored convicts were blown up Saturday while charging a drill-hole for blasting, and died yesterday. They blew out the drill-hole with a small charge of powder, and before the drill cooled off inserted a dynamite cartridge. While the penitentiary surgeon was attending the wounded men another blast near by exploded dashing him against an embankment. He will recover.

A Vessel Wrecked.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 10.—A heavy gale has raged all night at Portuguese bay. The Julia Merton dragged anchor and drifted on rocks in fresh water cove. The crew, consisting of eleven men, were rescued by the life saving crew with much difficulty. The vessel was completely wrecked.

The German Flag Up.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—It is officially confirmed that the German squadron in the South Pacific has hoisted the flag of Germany at twelve points on the islands New Britain, New Ireland and New Guinea.

The Fire Record.

What's a Miracle

to some people is really only the result of the use of knowledge and common-sense. Many persons suffering from hesitate about taking a remedy fearing it will not help them, and they doubt whether it really did do as much for others as is claimed.

This is not the way Mr. C. R. Bruner of Urbana, Ohio, did. He writes:

"ATHLOPHOROS is the best I ever tried. I was down in bed so bad that I had to be turned on a sheet, and so I got a bottle of ATHLOPHOROS and I even take it all 8 o'clock and I was suffering everything a man could suffer. I took four doses of it, and I got out of bed myself and ate my supper, and the next morning I walked out to breakfast without cane.

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.

E. H. SWAINE, of Richmond, state inspector of oils, has tendered his resignation to the governor, to take effect April 1. A successor will be appointed by Governor Gray this week.

GOVERNOR GRAY has appointed Patrick Flynn, of Lafayette, inspector-general of the Indiana Legion, to succeed Major James R. Ross, on his staff, and Horatio N. Kelsey, of Indianapolis, and Andrew J. Parks, of Peru, aides-de-camp, with the rank of major.

THE provisions of the present Indiana liquor law are being stringently enforced at Indianapolis, and the constitutionality of the enactment will soon be tested. Last Saturday at Indianapolis a case was submitted to Judge Norton on an agreed statement of facts, evidence only being taken to show that there were sales of three glasses of beer after 11 o'clock. A finding followed against the defendant for $19 and costs. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, in order to test the constitutionality of the law under which the finding was made.

Our Schools.

The institute of the Wayne township teachers met at school house No. 2, on Saturday, Feb. 7.

Trustee Gaffney was chairman, C. Methley was chosen secretary, Miss E. Gaffney and Mr. A. McKee, committee on resolutions, and Misses Probasco and Green, committee on program.

The proceedings commenced with an address by the trustee, in which he fully explained the benefits of education, and of institutes, as a method of keeping the same before the eyes of the people. He also showed the influence which a teacher must hold and regretted that parent did not seem to take as much interest in institutes as children.

A class in reading was conducted by Mr. McKee and brought out some fine elocution. Miss Probasco introduced a class in physiology which was creditable alike to teacher and pupils. Miss Eliza Gaffney read an essay on Writing, which showed scholarship and knowledge of her profession. Mr. Methley took a class in arithmetic and discussions took place on the methods of teaching the common school branches.

The miscellaneous exercises were an enjoyable part of the proceedings. Several of the scholars gave recitations, most notable of which was the "Phantom Ox" by Miss Viola Thomas. Mrs. Thomas recited an original poem, which evoked much applause. Songs by Miss Probasco, Miss Green and Mr. Thomas were much appreciated. Miss Addie Gaffney's rendition of "Guilty or Not Guilty," and other selections which she gave alone and with her sister, Alice, were a revelation to those who have not before had the pleasure of hearing this young lady.

The institute then adjourned to meet Saturday, March 14, at school house No. 4.

Monroe Township Institute.

MONROEVILLE, Feb. 10, 1885.

Pursuant to a call of Trustee Brandberry the teachers of Monroe township and Monroeville held a joint institute at the high school room in this place last Saturday.

The institute was called to order at 9:20 a. m. W. S. Walker, principal of the Monroeville school, was elected chairman and Miss Emma Peckham, secretary. Prayer was offered by Rev. D. S. Miller, and the institute work proceeded according to program.

Music by the Teachers' quartet.

Declamation, entitled "Paul Revere," by Miss Peckham.

"Language lesson" by Miss Carrie Wright, was highly appreciated.

J. J. Peters explained "How and Why we teach the Metric System," and the question, is it necessary to teach our children this system, was fully discussed.

Following the discussion was a recitation by Miss Nettie Sheehan.

Miss Angie Hill illustrated by class her method of teaching the elements of geography.

After music by the A grammar class the institute adjourned until 1:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At 1:30 the institute was opened with music by the high school class.

Isaiah Bouserman delivered an address on "How to teach United States History," and the subject was discussed by Messrs. Walker, Miller and Douglass.

Miss Mollie Craig presented the subject of "Reading," by reading a selection and Miss Lottie McDonough delivered an interesting delamation.

"How to teach the Fundamental Rules of Arithmetic," was ably handled by D. S. Miller.

Miss Willard illustrated with a class her method of teaching "First Lessons in Physiology," and Professor Walker in the same manner explained his method of teaching "General Arithmetical Analysis."

After some remarks on "School Government," by Rev. A. J. Douglass, and music by the Teachers' quartet, the institute adjourned.

PRINCE OF LIGHT.

Many medicines now on the market of what virtue they possess to the presence of powerful and poisonous drugs. Hunt's (kidney and liver) remedy is purely vegetable and will not injure the feeblest and most delicate person.

A soldier of the southern army, who claimed that he fired the first gun at Fort Sumpter, was recently arrested at Baltimore for stealing cigars.

Many whose blood had become poisoned from various causes and whose ill health was indicated by pimples, sore feelings, aches, pains, urinary sediments, catarrh and inflammation of the mucous membrane, constipation, dyspepsia, bad dreams, nervousness, sleeplessness, etc., have been restored to perfect health by using Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. It is the only true blood purifier and strengthener of mind and body. No other remedy equals it.

A white robin was killed in South Carolina the other day. It had the usual red breast, but the rest of the feathers were white.

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence as to the curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Letters are continually being received from all sections of the country, telling of benefits derived from this great medicine. It is unequalled for general debility, and as a blood purifier, expelling every trace of scrofula or other impurity. Now is the time to take it. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists.

The Wagner feeling is spreading to remote quarters. On a bridge in Pike county, Pennsylvania, is a sign, "Walk ure Horses."

Capt. E. H. Rauch, a well known citizen of Lancaster, Pa., was a confirmed sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, which often confined him to his bed. When he commenced using Mishler's Herb Bitters his left knee was very much swollen. After using the Bitters, according to directions, for a short time, the swelling of the knee disappeared almost entirely, and he was able to walk without the use of crutch or cane. "I feel like a new man," the captain writes.

A wild bear charged a funeral procession near Ashland, Pa., recently, and made the pall-bearers drop the corpse and run.

Piles.

Piles are one of the most disagreeable and painful of disorders. They are generally produced by sedentary habits, indigestion or intemperance. The disease is of common occurrence, and to affect a certain cure should be promptly treated by proper remedies. There is nothing more suitable by its wonderful curative action than Pond's extract Ointment, in which the medicinal virtues of Pond's Extract, which are very valuable in the above complaint, are in a state of great concentration. It is advisable in every instance however, to use both the Extract and the Ointment. Ask your druggist and be sure and get the right article.

The faculty of the Cincinnati law college has engaged a woman as professor of elocution.

HOPE!

A young man named John Nares, living near here, had an eating cancer on his face, which had eaten away his nose, part of his cheek, and extended up nearly to his eye. It was one of the most angry eating sores that I had ever seen. His throat finally became involved to such an extent that he could only swallow liquid food. After using all the remedies without checking the ravages of the eating cancer, his general health was broken down, he was confined to his bed, and thought it to be only a question of time about his death from the cancer. I put Lim on S. S. S. Specific as a last resort, and he began to improve with the first dose. His general health improved at once, and rapidly; his throat got well; the ravages of the cancer were soon stopped; it began to heal around the edges; and after a few months treatment with S. S. S. he has gotten entirely well. His face is all healed over with new flesh, and his general health is excellent. His recovery is wonderful. M. F. CHUMLEY, M.D.

Cancer for Many Years.

TIPTONVILLE, TENN., Oct. 13, 1884.—Gentlemen I am pleased to inform you that S. S. S. Specific has cured my form of cancer, and that Swift's Specific it was a very bad one. I am in fine health—not better for twenty years. I have gained twenty-five pounds since I commenced taking SWIFT'S SPECIFIC
R. S. BRADFORD.

Snatched from the Grave.

Mrs. Sarah E. Turner and her mother Mrs. P. E. Bryan, for nineteen years residents of Humboldt, Tenn., make the following statements as to the merits of Swift's Specific. Mrs. Turner's case is well known in this community. She says:

"I was afflicted for two or more years with Eczema and Erysipelas combined. My whole system was broken down, my strength and appetite gone, and I became as helpless as a child, being lifted from place to place by my friends. I was treated by the best physicians in the community with iodine of potash and the other usual remedies for such cases. I was given up to die by my friends. My sufferings were beyond description, and I had lost all hope of recovery. Last January I was induced to try Swift's Specific, having received a pamphlet from the company detailing its merits. The first half dozen bottles had the effect to bring back hope to my heart, and the thought of being well again brought joy and gladness to the household. I have taken altogether 24 bottles. The sores have healed up and disappeared; my strength has returned, and I am able to do all kinds of housework. Swift's Specific, I honestly believe, snatched me from the grave, and I do not know how to be grateful enough for my recovery.
MRS. SARAH E. TURNER."

I know that S. S. S. has saved my daughter's life. She was the most wretched looking object that I ever saw when she commenced taking it, being perfectly help ess. I thank God that we heard of it. It has saved my child.
MRS. P. E. BRYAN.

THE CITY.

Miss Eda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Maier, is quite ill.

John Smith, a vag, was sent to jail for drunkenness this morning.

The police shivered last night, but held to their places like soldiers.

Edward Seidel, the restaurateur, left yesterday afternoon for New Orleans.

This is the hardest and most protracted cold spell within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

A meeting of the Fort Wayne council, Royal Arch Masons, has been called for to morrow night.

Dr. M. F. Porter is the papa of a nice girl baby and patients mustn't blame him for not calling to-day.

Next Saturday evening Prof. Mahler will give his sixth annual valentine reception, at his dancing academy.

Home lodge will not meet to-night, as James E. Graham cannot attend, owing to the severe illness of Mrs. Graham.

Seven foxes were killed in the eastern part of this county last week. This is a more successful raid than the recent chase.

The academy skating rink opened again this morning. There are but a few more entertainments to interfere with the roller merriment.

H. F. Snow, who recently sold his farm in Monroe township for $7,000, has purchased a small farm near Van Wert, O., for $65.75 per acre.

A sneak thief broke the front window glass of Fred Beach's second hand store last night and ran away with a few cheap watches displayed there.

Yesterday Councilman Herman Michael and wife, Fred Michael and wife, and John Leichner left for New Orleans via the Muncie route.

Lieut. Frank Wilkinson did the honors of chief of police last night. Capt. Diehl went to Plainfield with young Carpenter, the incorrigible lad.

Henry W. Mordhurst has been chosen superintendent of the Trinity Episcopal Sunday school. Mr. Mordhurst is a clever gentleman and can assume the duties with grace and brilliancy.

Charles A. Munson is at Indianapolis and went at the urgent solicitation of the common council to impress on legislators the injustice of the metropolitan police bill it is proposed to pass for Fort Wayne.

The "Pirates of Penzance" had another rehearsal last night, and the opera will receive a splendid interpretation at their hands. Save to-night rehearsals will be held every night preceding the entertainment.

At Trinity Episcopal church, last Sunday evening, Rev. W. N. Webbe, the rector, rendered a pleasing solo in an admirable way. The reverend gentleman is versatile and stands high in the councils of his creed.

Councilman Kinsell favors the proposed metropolitan police. The other republican members oppose it because it would increase the cost of the police system nearly $4,000 a year. Tax-payers have to settle this bill and it is not popular.

The track walkers of the Wabash line have been instructed by Supt. Stevens to subject the road to a more critical inspection during warm spells of this and next month. After a cold period the rails are more likely to break than during the prevalence of the Arctic weather.

This is pretty cold weather and this morning at 7 o'clock the mercury stood eight degrees below zero, at 9 it was ten degrees below, so the cold continued to increase in severity all day. This time last year Theodore Theime, who has a record, tells us there were big floods here and from Feb. 5 to 9, last year the sun did not come from under the clouds.

Pittsburg passenger train No. 2, due here at 8:45 last night, came in this morning at 6:30; No. 6, due at 11 last night, came here at 6:30 this morning; No. 4, due at 6:30 this morning, came in at 8:35. The last train was a double header. Wabash 42, due here at 7 o'clock this morning, was abandoned last night west of Danville. The Grand Rapids trains came in on time behind double headers. Freight trains do not move at all, and merchants miss their freight.

George Alfred Townsend delivered his lecture on "Dublin, or Celebrated Irish Characters," at the Academy to a small assembly last night. Mr. Townsend is not a magnetic talker, but his rare descriptive power and an occasional anecdote entertain. His Irish heroes were principally of English Protestant extraction and the Celtic patriots were not great in his estimation. This fact does not injure their memory and the opinions expressed are destined to reach but few ears from "Gath's" lips. If space permitted THE SENTINEL could pick to pieces Mr. Townsend's ideal Irishmen and materially aid the correspondent in the study of Irish character.

The poultry show will be held in the Curtis building.

It is predicted this will be the last cold spell of the winter.

T. J. McCroden is now bill clerk for the Nickel Plate road at its New Haven office.

Nat Goodwin appears at the Academy next Monday night in the new comedy of "Confusion."

George King has closed a contract with George P. Myers, jr., for a store building on Hanna street.

George Scott, the train wrecker, was photographed this afternoon. He will be taken to Michigan City to-morrow.

Fred Richards, who is on trial for the murder of Amos Backesto, tips the scales at 270 pounds. Prison life agrees with him.

John Nelligan has been sent west of Danville to do a special job of work by Master Mechanic Barnes, of the Wabash.

Trustee Gaffney was besieged by poor people to-day, who craved wood to keep themselves and children from freezing to death.

About twelve car-loads of ice are shipped daily from Maxenkuckee to Indianapolis, Louisville, Terre Haute and other points south.

Pittsburg passenger train No. 7 ran into a switch engine near Chicago this morning, and smashed it to pieces. Passengers were transferred.

Last evening John W. Ames, a brakeman on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Louisville road, had his right arm broken by falling from the deck of a freight car.

Passenger trains on all the roads came in late this afternoon. Two sections ran in on the Wabash after dinner. Business men do not get their mail and there is much annoyance.

A business meeting of the ladies of the Universalist church will be held at the residence of Mrs. A. Hattersley, No. 173 West Wayne street, on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A. Geismar spread a magnificent feast for "Gath" and his secretary after the lecture last night. Mr. Geismar, who is descended from a royal German family, greatly admires the celebrated correspondent.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Light local snows, followed by colder, clear clearing weather, westerly winds, and higher barometer.

A Fort Wayne contributor, over the initials "N. M." has a very pretty poem in the Indianapolis Catholic New Record on the late Monsignor Julian Benoit. The lines are creditable and THE SENTINEL would honorably mention the author if known to us.

Constable Robbins will not again return to West Virginia after Steven Scott, the young man who betrayed Della Kelsey. A warrant for the arrest of the fugitive was left in the hands of officers there. Young Scott was formerly in the butcher business at Maysville.

It is said the Wabash management seriously contemplates abandoning the train agent system which has evoked such vigorous kicking from conductors, caustic comments of the press and condemnation of the public. The returns indicate that so far as it affects the returns of conductors to the general office it is a dire failure. Either the conductors were scrupulously honest before its adoption, or else the system does not check dishonest conductors. The impression prevails that the conductors were making honest returns, and that there never was a legitimate excuse for placing agents on the line.

The annual agricultural fairs in this county have created a spirit for scientific agriculture and fine cattle and horses. To-day there are probably a dozen fine stock farms in this county where blooded animals alone are kept. A correspondent writes us that Adam Ridenour, of Monroe township, a day or two ago sold to J. Tillman a seven-months old Durham calf that tipped the scales at 800 pounds. M. E. Argo has a fine herd of cattle on his farm, while Capt. H. McKinnie, J. H. Bass, O. A. Simons, S. Bash, Rockhill brothers, R. S. Taylor, A. D. Cressler and many other gentlemen are in the profitable business of raising blooded horses and cattle.

Last Sunday evening Rev. J. R. Dinnen, of St. Bernard's Catholic church, Crawfordsville, lectured at Music hall, in that city, for the benefit of the poor. The protestant ministers of the city closed their houses of worship and listened to the eloquent divine, who is a brother of Dr. J. M. Dinnen, of this city, and a former priest of the Episcopal household here. The subject was "Alms," and the Crawfordsville papers speak highly of the clergyman's effort. Father Dinnen paid a nice tribute to Monsignor Benoit in the course of his remarks. The Crawfordsville Journal says: "Father Dinnen stated that during his priesthood he had been very seldom called upon to deliver addresses to audiences made up of non-Catholics, and that he supposed there were present those who would hear a Catholic priest for the first time in their lives. He made a most excellent impression upon his hearers."

AGAINST A CHANGE.

The Members of the Common Council Say, "Let Well Enough Alone," and Tell Why the Metropolitan Police Bill Should not Pass.

As was briefly stated yesterday, the city council met in the afternoon with a full board present. The proposed enactment, depriving us of self government and forcing on the people of this city a metropolitan police force at an extra cost of $4,000 was taken up and roundly denounced, as was also the bill to abolish the office of city treasurer and assessor. The following resolutions from the pen of City Attorney Colerick, expressing the sentiments of the people of Fort Wayne, were adopted and copies sent to Indianapolis:

WHEREAS, the general assembly of the state of Indiana is now considering a bill known as the Metropolitan Police bill, and,

WHEREAS, the passage of said bill would be against the best interests of our city; and would endanger the present efficient system and management of our police force, by turning over to non-residents the selection of police commissioners instead of allowing, as now, their selection to be made by the representatives of the people of the city, who alone bear the burden of maintaining a police force; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the common council of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, hereby enters her protest for the citizens and tax payers of said city against the passage of the bill known as the Metropolitan Police bill.

1. Because the said bill is opposed to the spirit of home government.

2. Because the present law, if enforced, gives to cities every necessary power to enforce good and efficient police system.

3. Because non-residents would not be as good judges as to who would best serve the city as the citizens and taxpayers of the city, who bear the burden, would be in selecting the commissioners.

4. Because this assembly can not by any limit anticipate the needs and necessities of each city in the state.

5. Because the system as now in existence in Fort Wayne is wholly satisfactory to all creeds, nationalities and parties; in fact all conditions are satisfied, except that criminals complain of its too great stringency. Fred C. Boltz, W. Doehrman, Geo. W. Ely, Montgomery Hamilton, C. Kramer, E. Lincoln, Herman Michael, John Mohr, J. J. Prentiss, John M. Reidmiller, Peter J. Scheid, John W. Vordermark, John H. Welch, James W. Woulfe, A. Wolf.

On motion of Councilman Boltz a committee of three were appointed to prepare a remonstrance against the passage of the bill known as the bill to abolish the office of city treasurer and city assessor, said remonstrance to be presented to the common council at its regular session, February 10, for their ratification. The committee appointed consists of Messrs. Boltz, Berghoff and Colerick.

THE MURDER TRIAL.

Fred Richards Sits Before a Jury of His Peers---Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Backesto in Court---The Testimony.

All day yesterday was occupied in the circuit court selecting a jury to weigh Fred Richard's crime. At six o'clock last evening the panel was completed and the fate of the alleged murderer of Amos Backesto is in the hands of the following gentlemen: Alexander Woods, Pleasant township; George Schlabacker, city; Amos P. Murphy, Springfield; Patrick Ambrose, Lake; Jeremiah C. Mudge, city; Jesse Greenawalt, Springfield; David Miles, city; Martin Bloom, jr., St. Joseph; Warren B. Felt, city; Wm. Fogwell, Lafayette; Louis Hazzard, city, and David P. Smith, of Milan.

When the case was resumed this morning Richards came into court ironed. His wife met him at the door, and the two sat together. Mrs. Amos Backesto, wife of the murdered man, is also in court and a friend accompanies her. Richards does not look at the wife of the dead man, and is very much disheartened.

Coroner Smith was the first witness called. He stated the circumstances of the inquest.

Henry Wrimes, a shoemaker, living at Decatur, testified that Richards wore a No. 10 boot. This fit the boot print discovered by the coroner.

Dr. Benjamin Freeman discovered the wound that produced Backesto's death.

Baxter Robinson testified that Richards told him a short time before the murder that he would kill Backesto before a year.

Charles Sherer.—Richards told me one of his neighbors was troublesome and he would put him out of the way.

John Smith testified as to tracks found along the road on the route traveled by defendant and were as testified to by Davis Smith on a former trial.

William Scherer, testified that at a primary election in April, 1884, Richards, when accused by Backesto with placing a board across his gate, replied that he didn't put the board there but he knew who did, and that it was intended as a warning.

Mrs. Amos Backesto was called. Her testimony is substantially the same as on the former trial. She positively identifies Richards as the man who shot her husband.

A HANDSOME GIFT.

Mrs. Julia P. Fay Wills $1,000 to the First Baptist Church and Organ Fund.

Last Sunday the members of the First Baptist church were apprised by Rev. A. S. Northrop that the provisions of the will of the late Mrs. Julia A. Fay, relict of Judge James A. Fay, gave to the general fund of the First Baptist church $500 and a like sum to the organ fund of the same house of worship. The congregation is in debt and the handsome bequest is like a gift from heaven. The organ debt can be paid off now and the house of God freed from mortgage annoyances. The amounts named will be placed to the credit of the church by Mrs. Fay's son-in-law, Mr. P. A. Randall, and Pastor Northrop and his devoted flock will return their thanks to the lady who so substantially remembered them, being, of course, ever mindful of her in their devotions.

The Arion society will give a Comical concert with a hop at their hall, Tuesday evening, February 10, 1885. Admission 50c, including one lady. Tickets by the members. 7-3t

In the superior court yesterday Judge Sinclair granted a decree for $130.32 to the Hagerstown Agricultural Implement Manufacturing company against Samuel West.

In the case of the Hamilton National bank vs. J. B. Fry, the amount involved is but $500. It was put at $5,000 in a former publication on an erroneous entry.

In the Little River ditch case to-day experts testified for the remonstrators against the drain and the drift of their testimony was to show that water would not run through the proposed channel.

SHUT UP SHOP.

Sheriff Nelson Takes Possession of Max G. Lade's Store.

Max G. Lade, the gun and locksmith, stepped into the circuit court this morning and confessed judgments aggregating over $800. The first was in favor of Samuel Wensten, for $167.88, the second was to Jacob J. Bolinger for $316.17, and the third to Chas. H. Borneman for $380.50. Robert Stratton is attorney for the creditors.

Later an execution was issued on the judgments named and Sheriff Nelson closed Mr. Lade's place of business, on East Main street. His assistants are now invoicing the stock and later it will be sold at auction.

Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had and I can see to thread as well a needle as ever I did, and my smell is partly restored and it seems to be improving all the time. ### William M. Evarts' Wit.

[New York Tribune.]

A story illustrating the great lawyer's quickness is a favorite in circles of "applied finance." Not long since he stood with a party of friends on the soil of Virginia near the famous Natural Bridge. There is a legend that once on a time George Washington threw a silver dollar from the stream to the surface of the bridge. It is a big throw, so big in fact that some of the tourists were inclined to disbelieve the legend. Mr. Evarts being appealed to for his opinion instantly replied as he measured the distance with a twinkling eye: "Well, we must not forget that a dollar went a good deal further in Washington's day than it does now."

Senator-Elect from California.

LELAND STANFORD.

The election of ex-Gov. Leland Stanford, in California, will be a surprise to many, but is a natural recognition of the public spirit and faithful and able public services of one of California's richest men. Gov. Stanford has not, so far as we can judge by the California papers, beaten so able and formidable an antagonist as ex-Senator and ex-Minister to Germany Sargent by reason of his wealth or of its power, but rather in spite of it. Californians appreciate what Gov. Stanford has done for the interests of the state. They know how broad have been his ambitions for the development of agriculture, of viniculture, of stock raising, of education and of all that would tend to make California more than a mining camp and unattractive be no of the very rich and very poor. Since the death of his son, over whom it will be remembered Rev. J. P. Newman, Gen. Grant's former pastor, preached that $20,000 oration, Gov. Stanford has arranged to leave his fortune of $15,000,000 to the state of California. The state debt of California, $3,000,000, is to be paid, and the large balance is to be used as a fund for a thorough system of popular education.

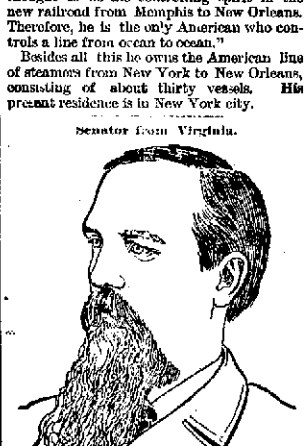
A Pacific Railroad Magnate.

C. P. HUNTINGTON.

Mr. Collis Potter Huntington, was born some 65 years ago on a Connecticut farm, where every farm is blest with stones enough to fence in the entire state, though he has since risen to be more than fifty times a millionaire, and is an authority on "How to run a congress." He began life as chore boy on a farm. At 24 he was in partnership with his brother as a trader, and at 28 was a prosperous merchant in California. It was in 1850 that he first began to talk of the feasibility of a railroad over the Sierra Nevada mountains, which was afterwards consummated in the completion of the Central Pacific, over which Mr. Huntington was the controlling spirit and financier. He is still in active business life, expending his winters usually in Washington, overlooking the interests of the several corporations with the control of which he is still associated. His railroad system extends from San Francisco nearly to Mexico, thence across the desert and Texas to New Orleans. He has finished his railroad from Hampton roads to Memphis, and is thought to be the controlling spirit in the new railroad from Memphis to New Orleans. Therefore, he is the only American who controls a line from ocean to ocean."

Besides all this he owns the American line of steamers from New York to New Orleans, consisting of about thirty vessels. His present residence is in New York city.

Senator from Virginia.



HARRISON H. RIDDLEBERGER.

Senator Riddleberger who has long been known as one of the most fearless of men, attracted considerable attention recently by his speech in opposition to Senator Bayard's resolution in the United States senate, expressing "profound sorrow" at the attempt to destroy by dynamite some of Great Britain's public buildings. The senator is a Virginian, Scotch Irish, has served as an officer in the confederate army. Since the war he has been four years in the house of delegates, and four years in the state senate. Besides the prominent part he has taken in politics, he has, since 1870, edited three newspapers. He was elected to the United States senate as a Readjuster, and took his seat Dec. 8, 1881.

LOVE OR MONEY.

The Best Story of the Season.

Now Walter was excited with the events of the day, irritated by the affront his father had put upon him and Mary, strung up by hard riding, etc.; he burst out, "Well, I shall not go to him; I have had enough of this—badgered and bullied, and my sweetheart affronted—and now I suppose I am to be lectured again. You say I am not well, and bring my dinner up here."

"No, Mr. Walter," said the old man, gravely; "I must not do that. Sir, don't you think as you are to be scolded, or the angel you love affronted; all that is over forever. There has been many a strange thing happened since you rode out of our stable last; but I wish you would go to the Colonel and let him tell you all; however, I suppose I may tell you so much as this, that your sweetheart is not Mary Bartley at all; she is Mr. Hope's daughter."

"What!" cried Walter, in utter amazement.

"There is no doubt about it, sir," said the old man; "and I believe it is all out about you and her; but that would not matter, for the Colonel he takes it quite different from what you might think. He swears by her now. I don't know really how that came about, sir, for I was not there, but when I was dressing the Colonel he said to me, John, 'she's the grandest girl in England, and an honor to her sex, and there is not a drop of Bartley's blood in her.'"

"Oh, he has found that out," said Walter. "Then I'll go to him like a bird, dear old fellow. So that is what he wanted to tell me."

"No," said John Baker, gravely.

"No!" said Walter; "what then?"

"It's trouble."

"Trouble!" said Walter, puzzled.

"Ay, my poor young master," said Baker, tenderly; "sore trouble as a father's heart won't let me or any man break to you while he lieves to do it. I know my master. Ever since that fellow Bartley came here we have seen the worst of him; now we shall see the best of him. Go to him, dear Master Walter. Don't waste time in talking to old John Baker. Go to your father and your friend."

Walter Clifford cast a look of wonder and alarm on the old man, and went down at once to the drawing-room. His father was standing by the fire. He came forward to him with both hands and said:

"My son!"

"Father," said Walter, in a whisper, "what is it?"

"Have you heard nothing?"

"Nothing but good news, father—that you approve my choice."

"Ah, John told you that."

"Yes, sir."

"And did he tell you anything else?"

"No, sir; only that some great misfortune is upon me, and that I have my father's sympathy."

"You have," said the Colonel; "and would to God I had known the truth before! She is not Bartley's daughter at all; she is Hope's daughter. Her virtue shines in her face; she is noble, she is self-denying, she is just, she is brave; and no doubt she can account for her being at the Lake Hotel in company with some man or other. Whatever that lady says will be the truth. That's not the trouble, Walter; all that has become small by comparison. But shall we ever see her sweet face again, or hear her voice?"

"Father," said Walter, trembling, "you terrify me. This sudden change in your voice that I never heard falter before; some great calamity must have happened. Tell me the worst at once."

"Walter," said the old man, "stand firm; do not despair, for there is hope."

"Thank God for that, father; now tell me all."

"Walter, there has been an explosion in the mine—a fearful explosion; the shaft has fallen in; there is no getting access to the mine, and all the poor souls confined there are in mortal peril. Those who are best acquainted with the mine do not think that many of them have been destroyed by the ruin, but they tell me these explosions let loose poisonous gases, and so now those poor souls are all exposed to three deadly perils; choke-damp, fire-damp, and starvation."

"It's pitiable," said Walter; "but assuredly this is a calamity to Bartley, and to the poor miners, but not to any one that I love, and that you have learned to respect."

"My son," said the Colonel, solemnly, "the mine was fired by foul play."

"Is it possible?"

"It is believed that some rival owner, or else some personal enemy of William Hope, bribed a villain to fire some part of the mine that Hope was inspecting."

"Great heavens!" said Walter; "can such villains exist? Poor, poor Mr. Hope; who would think he had an enemy in the world?"

"Alas!" said the Colonel, "that is not all. His daughter, it seems, overheard the villain bribing the ruffian to commit this foul and terrible act, and she flew to the mine directly. She despatched some miners to seize that hellish villain, and she went down the mine to save her father."

"Ah!" said Walter, trembling all over. "She has never been seen since."

The Colonel's head sank for a moment on his breast.

Walter groaned and turned pale.

"She came too late to save him; she came in time to share his fate."

Walter sank into a chair, and a deadly pallor overspread his face, his forehead, and his very lips.

The Colonel rushed to the door and called for help, and in a moment John Baker and Mrs. Milton and Julia Clifford were round poor Walter's chair with brandy and ether and salts, and every stimulant. He did not faint away; strong men very seldom do at any mere mental shock.

The color came slowly back to his cheeks and his pale lips, and his eyes began to fill with horror. The weeping women, and even the stout Colonel, viewed with anxiety his return to the full consciousness of his calamity. "Be brave," cried Colonel Clifford; "be a soldier's son; don't despair; fight; nothing has been neglected. Even Bartley is playing the man; he has got another engine coming up, and another body of workmen to open the new shaft as well as the old one."

"God bless him!" said Walter.

"And I have an experienced engineer on the road, and the things civilians always forgot—tents and provisions of all sorts. We will set an army to work sooner than your sweetheart, poor girl, shall lose her life by any fault of ours."

"My sweetheart!" cried Walter, starting suddenly from his chair. "There, don't cling to me, women. No man shall hear that army but me. My sweetheart! God help me—she's my wife."

CHAPTER XXII.

REMORSE.

In a work of this kind not only the external incidents should be noticed, but also what may be called the mental events. We have seen a calamity produce a great revulsion in the feelings of Colonel Clifford; but as for Robert Bartley, his very character was shaken to the foundation by his crime and its terrible consequences. He was now like a man who had glided down a soft sunny slope, and was suddenly arrested at the brink of a fathomless precipice. Bartley was cunning, selfish, avaricious, unscrupulous in reality, so long as he could appear respectable; but he was not violent, nor physically reckless, still less cruel. A deed of blood shocked him as much as it would shock an honest man. Yet now, through following his natural bent too far, and yielding to the influence of a remorseless villain, he found his own hands stained with blood—the blood of a man who, after all, had been his best friend, and had led him to fortune; and the blood of an innocent girl who had not only been his pecuniary benefactress for a time, but had warmed and lighted his house with her beauty and affection.

Busy men, whose views are all external, are even more apt than others to miss the knowledge of their own minds. This man, to whom everything was business, had taken for granted he did not actually love Grace Hope. Why, she was another man's child. But now he had lost her forever, he found he had mistaken his own feelings. He looked round his gloomy horizon and realized too late that he did love her; it was not a great and penetrating love like William Hope's; he was incapable of such a sentiment; but what affection he had to bestow, he had given to this sweet creature. His house was dark without her; he was desolate and alone, and, horrible to think of, the instrument of her assassination. This drove him to frenzy, and his frenzy took two forms, furious excitement and gloomy despair; this was now his life by night and day, for sleep deserted him. At the mine his measures were all wise, but his manner very wild; the very miners whispered amongst themselves that he was going mad. At home, on the contrary, he was gloomy, with sullen despair. He was in this latter condition the evening after the explosion, when a visitor was announced. Thinking it was some one from the mine, he said, faintly, "Admit him," and then his despondent head dropped on his breast; indeed, he was in a sort of lethargy, worn out with his labors, his remorse, and his sleeplessness.

In that condition his ear was suddenly jarred by a hard, metallic voice whose tone was somehow opposed to all the voices with which goodness and humanity have ever spoken.

"Well, governor, here's a slice of luck."

Bartley shivered. "Is that the devil speaking to me?" he muttered, without looking up.

"No," said Monckton, jauntily; "only one of his servants, and your best friend."

"My friend?" said Bartley, turning his chair and looking at him with a sort of dull wonder.

"Ay," said Monckton, "your friend; the man that found you brains and resolution, and took you out of the hole, and put Hope and his daughter in it instead; no, not his daughter, she did that for us, she was so clever."

"Yes," said Bartley, wildly, "it was you who made me an assassin. But for you, I should only have been a knave; now I am a murderer—thanks to you."

"Come, governor," said Monckton, "no use looking at one side of the picture. You tried other things first. You made him liberal offers, you know; but he would have war to the knife, and he has got it. He is buried at the bottom of that shaft."

"God forbid!"

"And you are all right."

"I am in hell," shrieked Bartley.

"Well, come out of it," said Monckton, "and let's talk sense. I—I read the news at Derby, just as I was starting for London. I have been as near the mine as I thought safe. They seem to be very busy clearing out both shafts—two steam-engines, constant relays of workmen. Who has got the job in hand?"

"I have," said Bartley.

"Well, that's clever of you to throw dust in their eyes, and put our little game off your own shoulders. You want to save appearances? You know you cannot save William Hope."

"I can save him, and I will save him. God will have mercy on a penitent assassin, as he once had upon a penitent thief."

Monckton stared at him and smiled.

"Who has been talking to you—the parson?"

"My own conscience. I abhor myself as much as I do you, you black villain."

"Ah!" said Monckton, with a wicked glance, "that's how a man patters before he splits upon his pals, to save his own skin. Now, look here, old man, before you split on me ask yourself who had the greatest interest in this job. You silenced a dangerous enemy, but what have I gained? You ought to squared with me first, as you promised. If you split upon me before that, you will put yourself in the hole and leave me out of it."

Why do People Commit Suicide?

Generally because they are despondent. They are despondent because their health has run down by reason of dyspepsia, debility, or malarial fevers. No man in good health wants to commit suicide. A healthy man can face his troubles and overcome them. Brown's Iron bitters enriches the blood and tones up the system so that vigor and bravery takes the place of debility and cowardice. Invariably cures dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, etc.

The cost of the Boston postoffice and sub-treasury building and land up to January 1 was $5,810,101.18.

A complete cure for that debilitating drain that indicates a weakness of the urinary organs, nasal catarrh and other evidences of a diseased mucuous membrane may be found in the use of Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. Don't be frightened by the advertisements of quack doctors. This remedy will purify the blood, strengthen the parts affected, heal all irritation of the mucuous membrane, and remove every symptom of the disorders. It is a sure cure for nervous debility and general ill health.

The Arion society will give a Comical concert with a hop at their hall, Tuesday evening, February 10, 1885. Admission 50c, including one lady. Tickets by the members. 9-2t

CHAPTER

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever
"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I
Could not move!
I shrunk!
From 220 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles, I am not only as sound as a sovereign, but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

CHAPTER II.

Malden, Mass., Feb. 1, 1880. Gentlemen—I suffered with attacks of sick headache." Neuralgia, female trouble, for years in the most terrible and excruciating manner. No medicine or doctor could give me relief or cure, until I used Hop Bitters.

"The first bottle
Nearly cured me;"
The second made me as well and strong as when a child.
"And I have been so to this day."
My husband was an invalid for twenty years with a serious
"Kidney, Liver and urinary complaint.
"Pronounced by Boston's best physicians—
"Incurable!"
Seven bottles of your Bitters cured him and I know of the "Lives of eight persons"
In my neighborhood that have been saved by your bitters,
And many more are using them with great benefit.
"They almost
Do miracles?"

—Mrs. E. D. Slack.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat to much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

☞ None genuine without a bunch of green Hops on the white label. Shun all the vile, poisonous stuff with "Hop" or "Hops" in their name.
